AAUW Mission: To Advance gender equity for women and girls through research, education,
and advocacy.

We provide a day-long program called, TechSavvy to introduce area middle school girls to careers in science, technology, engineering and mathematics through interactive workshops facilitated by STEM professionals.

We offer area college students scholarships to attend the National Conference for College Women Student Leaders, through a competitive application process.

We support High School Girls

A new program called, Savvy Teens; Seminars for Career Success is being developed to inform area high school girls about ways to plan and meet their future goals. The students will learn about the employment outlook for all levels of education and training. Finance, technology, and meeting employer expectations will also be included, plus much more!
